HONGKONG LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL.

PEACE PRESERVATION ORDINANCE AMENDED.

A meeting of the Legislative Council was held yesterday afternoon, when all the members were present. The most important business transacted was the passing of the Peace Preservation (Amendment) Ordinance through all its stages.

The Attorney General moved the suspension of the standing orders to enable the Bill to be carried through all stages, and remarked that it had not been circulated as usual because the decision with regard to it had only been arrived at on the previous day. The Bill was only drafted on Wednesday night, and the proofs were not revised until the following morning. He moved that it be read a first time.

The Colonial Secretary (Hon. Mr. Clementi) seconded.

HIS EXCELLENCY—Gentlemen, The Gazette Extraordinary published yesterday contained a proclamation issued under section 6 of the Peace Preservation Ordinance, No. 10 of 1886. That proclamation gives certain powers for dealing with disturbances in the Colony, certain exceptional powers which were considered necessary at a meeting of the Governor-in-Council on the previous afternoon. I do not for a moment imagine that any exceptional powers will be required in this Colony, except perhaps in one single direction, of which I will speak more fully in a moment. Chinese residents in this Colony, I am confident, appreciate the security and safety they enjoy under the British flag, and this has been proved abundantly to me during the course of the last month when I have had most loyal co-operation from leading Chinese residents, of course including the two Chinese members of Council. They have not only done their utmost to co-operate with the Government, but they have also followed my advice in many somewhat difficult matters on which they have come and asked it. It is therefore, you will agree, all the more incumbent on the Government to grant to the residents of the Colony that peace, security and protection of life and property that they expect to enjoy under the British flag. (Applause.) As, however, you have seen, probably in the Press, or have heard elsewhere, there has, during the last few weeks, been a considerable amount of rowdiness—I want to give it a stronger name than that—there have been several interferences with the police in the execution of their duty, and the first three cases which occurred are, in my opinion, somewhat significant. One case was the arrest of a thief after whom there had already been raised a hue and cry. When arrested by a constable, the crowd turned on the constable. The next two cases were cases of snatching jewellery from the hands of Chinese ladies. That form of crime is detested by Chinese in this Colony, and is one in which they always give the most eager assistance to the police. The fact that in these two cases the crowd should have resented the arrest of the prisoner by the police is to my mind very significant, and it seems to me to show that these persons who have interfered with the police do not belong to the Colony, but are a recent importation from outside its boundaries. It is, as I have said, the duty of the Government to protect its citizens from abuse, and to assure them the freedom which is always extended to all persons to come in and out, and to stay as they like in this Colony. It is the duty of the government to show, if people come from Canton to this Colony, that they allow the city of Victoria to become the scene of turbulence and riotous acts, as unfortunately at the present moment exist in some parts of China. And in this desire I am quite confident that we have the full approval and acquiescence of the whole community, including the Chinese, gentlemen, confers certain powers, as I have said, upon the Government for the suppression of riotous assemblies and so on, but in my view it provisions for dealing with persons arrested red-handed in acts of violence are exceeding inadequate. It is as you well recognize, very difficult in these circumstances to arrest persons. When the police succeed in arresting a person, in my opinion he should be dealt with severely. The infliction of a short sentence of imprisonment is not only useless, but exceedingly difficult because of the limited prison accommodation we have in the Colony. I think therefore it is advisable that when it shall appear to the Governor-in-Council necessary to issue this proclamation under this Ordinance for the time, and for the time only, during which the proclamation is current, the magistrates should be given powers to inflict corporal punishment upon persons who have been arrested for inflicting acts of violence or themselves committing acts of violence. That, gentlemen, in the object of the Bill which is before you, the Law Officers have set down a number of sections of various Ordinances dealing with such acts of violence, and these we will examine very carefully in committee. Our object is to deter criminals from congregating here during the present crisis in China, and show them that the law-abiding and peaceful citizens of this Colony will make it hot for them if they attempt to create disturbances and prevent the police of the Colony from carrying out their duties. The hon. Attorney General has told you that I propose to ask the Council to pass this Bill through all its stages to-day. That, however, will come under a separate motion. We are engaged at the present moment on a motion for the suspension of the standing orders in order to pass the first reading of the Bill. But I think it is well that I should explain the reason why, later on, we shall propose this as a matter of urgency. If members agree, and it is useless to have my unnecessary delay. As I have said, the proclamation which has been issued appears to me to be of little value unless it is supplemented by a Bill something like the one before us. The Legislature—the Magistrates are compelled to show is only misunderstood, and the Bill appears to me necessary to make the proclamation effective. If, however, the feeling of the Council should be that it would be better to postpone the passing of the Bill till next meeting, I shall not insist on passing it through to-day. But I hope the Council will agree with me that if the Bill is necessary at all it would be much better that it should be passed at once. The reason why the Bill has not been circulated as usual has already been explained by my hon. and learned friend on my left. (Applause.)

The motion was carried unanimously, and the bill subsequently passed its first, second and third readings, and became law.

ST. ANDREW'S BALL.

The Hongkong St. Andrew's Ball, held last night in the City Hall, was an unqualified success, and for brilliancy of display and social enjoyment it certainly equaled its many predecessors. The attendance was as large as ever, and the decorations were on the same lavish scale as before while the picturesque ceremonial associated with the supper was greatly enjoyed. The Hon. Mr. C. H. Ross, who did the honours with becoming dignity, while Mr. A. V. Monk, the Hon. Secretary, was unparing in his efforts to complete the extensive arrangements which have to be carried through for such an undertaking.

The decorations showed most of the well known features. There was the huge illuminated St. Andrew's cross at the entrance, the lion rampant held a conspicuous place amid the blaze of light on the stairway, and shields and battleaxes, some of which were said to have been used at Bannockburn, lent a distinctive touch to the embellishment. St. Andrew's Hall was decorated with evergreens, old armour, and a large cross, while St. George's Hall had in addition to its usual decorations a Clan Ross tartan.

Dancing commenced shortly after nine o'clock to music supplied by the band of the K.O.Y.L.I. Regiment, and the programme was carried through successfully the reels and strathspeys arousing considerable enthusiasm. The M.C.s were Captain Stewart, Dr. Allan, Messrs. R. Sutherland, W. Armstrong, A. N. Pollock, A. L. Shields, W. L. Carter and others.
